MISSIONS TO SEAMEN.

The Annual Meeting of the Missions to Seamen was held on Thursday, May 30th, at the Church House, London, the Bishop of Winchester presiding over a large attendance. The Society has for fifty-one years been making spiritual provision for crews of many nationalities and creeds, as far as possible when at sea, as well as whilst in port, at anchor and ashore. It does so now in sixty harbours round the British Isles, and in thirty ports abroad. It has a staff of 61 Chaplains and 90 Readers and maintains 130 Missions to Seamen Churches and Institutes, and 70 Mission vessels and boats. The total receipts of the Society during its fifty-first year (1906) amounted to £28,231. 12s. 7d.; this is £3,000 less than the receipts for 1905, but the falling off is due entirely to legacies, the amount received from that source in the Twentieth Century year being far above the average. The special fund raised to commemorate the Society's Jubilee Year, including gifts from its Royal Patrons, the King and the Prince of Wales, has now reached £8,000, and still requires £2,000 to complete it. The object of the fund is to supply Seamen's Chaplains and Seamen's Churches and Institutes to ten more Ports abroad and to strengthen existing Stations both at Home and abroad.

The amount already contributed has made it possible to undertake new work for sailors and to strengthen existing work at Buenos Aires, Valparaiso, Callao, Delagoa Bay, Melbourne, Hamburg, the Tyne and Barry Docks, and to keep the flag flying at San Francisco at a time when, owing to the earthquake, it must, but for prompt and liberal help, have been hauled down.

The General Superintendent of the Missions has lately returned from an interesting and important visit to the ports of Australia and New Zealand. The most pressing claims on the Jubilee Fund now are for Seamen's Chaplains for Fremantle, Adelaide, Singapore, Rosario, and Bahia Blanca, and for additional workers at Hamburg, Antwerp, and Buenos Aires. More than ten thousand Services and Bible readings were last year conducted afloat by the Mission Staff on board ships, whilst nearly 21,000 religious Services were held in the Society's Churches and Institutes ashore, attended by seamen of all nationalities and creeds. Jubilee Contributions and other gifts will be gratefully received by the Secretary, Stuart C. Knox, Esq., M.A., The Missions to Seamen, 11, Buckingham Street, Strand, London, W.C.

The Bishop of Winchester said the work of the Society's Chaplains and Readers was beyond all praise, and he wished to encourage the Society's work in every possible way. It was a reproach to them in the Church of England to-day that that work had not been begun actually by those in authority in the Church. The Society had done for sailors on a voluntary basis what the Church in its official capacity had neglected to do. The Earl of Elgin in proposing a resolution urging that the Society was deserving of the most generous support, said the work of the Society gave to sailors in foreign and Colonial ports the benefits and associations of home. The Society's Institutes afforded means for recreation and instruction, and often very useful advice on the problems of life. Its agents showed great self-denial in exiling themselves to distant ports but they found their reward in the results attained.

Mr. Charles Bushell, Chairman of the Mersey Mission to Seamen, who was one of the speakers, was presented with an address congratulating the Mersey Mission on the success of its 50 years' work.

The Rev. G. F. Wilson, General Superintendent, gave an interesting account of his recent visit to the ports of Australia and New Zealand, and descriptions were given of the Society's work in the port of London and at Callao, Peru.

A rather funny and consequential diplomatist called the other day on a bluff admiral belonging to the United States Navy, and left his card. The card was inscribed in the corner with the letters "E. P."

"I hope you got my card," said the diplomatist when, not long after, he met the admiral.

"Oh, yes, I got it all right," was the reply. "But by the way, what was the meaning of the 'E. P.' on it?"

"Why, emperors, of course," explained the diplomatist. "Perhaps you did not know that I left it in person."

"Oh, I see," responded the admiral, with a suspicious twinkle.

In a very short time the diplomatist received the admiral's card, bearing the puzzling letters "S. B. N.", which successfully baffled every attempt at solution. On the next occasion that the nonplussed diplomatist met the admiral he, in turn, asked for an explanation.

"Sent by nigger," was the illuminating reply.

U-13 Class - Calculations

1. The first group of variables is the "demographic" group, which includes age, sex, and education. These variables are used to control for differences in the population that might affect the results. For example, older people might be more likely to have a higher level of education, which could affect their health status. By controlling for these variables, we can isolate the effect of the independent variables on the dependent variable.
